Wisconsin Endangered and Threatened Species Laws & List

PUBL-ER-001 2004
REV June 2015

Definitions

Wisconsin Endangered Species: Any species whose continued existence as a viable component of this state's wild animals or wild plants is determined by the Department to be in jeopardy on the basis of scientific evidence.

Wisconsin Threatened Species: Any species which appears likely, within the foreseeable future, on the basis of scientific evidence to become endangered.

State Laws

Endangered and Threatened Species Laws (State Statute 29.604 & Administrative Rule NR27)

Animals - It is illegal to take, transport, possess, process or sell any wild animal that is included on the Wisconsin Endangered and Threatened Species List without a valid permit.

Plants - No one may process or sell any wild plant that is a listed species without a valid permit. On public lands or lands you do not own, lease, or have the permission of the landowner, you may not cut, root up, sever, injure, destroy, remove, transport or carry away a listed plant without a permit. There is an exemption on public lands for forestry, agriculture and utility activity.

Permits - No one is exempt from these laws, but an Endangered or Threatened Species "Scientific" Permit or an Incidental Take Permit can allow you to conduct certain activities under specified conditions. The Department of Natural Resources may issue these permits, under specified terms and conditions to take, transport, possess, or export listed endangered or threatened species. Permit information and applications are available from the Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation (address below).

Violations

Endangered and Threatened Animals: If the state law is violated unintentionally, the violator is subject to a fine of no less than $500 and no more than $2,000 and the court shall revoke all hunting privileges for one year. If the law is violated intentionally a person may be fined no less than $2,000 and no more than $5,000 or may be imprisoned for 9 months, or both. The court shall revoke all hunting privileges for three years. Violations of Federal Laws will result in additional penalties.

Endangered and Threatened Plants: If the state law is violated unintentionally, the person is subject to a fine of $1,000 or less. If the law is violated intentionally, the person is subject to a fine of $1,000 or less and/or 9 months imprisonment.

Report violations of wildlife laws to the toll-free Wisconsin Emergency Hotline: (1-800-847-9367).

A Reminder

The Department of Natural Resources reminds you that the Endangered and Threatened Species list is only a first step toward identifying a problem that exists. It doesn't tell what the problem is or what to do about it. Moreover, it does not guarantee survival of the plants and animals listed. The real work follows listing. The Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation formulates management plans to aid the recovery of listed species. DNR resource managers put the plans to work in the field, while conservation wardens enforce laws protecting endangered resources.

A Request

The Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation welcomes observations of endangered and threatened plants and animals. We are also interested in observations of species of special concern (species about which some problem of abundance or distribution is suspected but not yet proven). If you would like to obtain reporting forms for submitting observations and/or a list of special concern species, please contact us at the address or phone number in the box at right.

ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT

HOUSING REHABILITATION PROGRAM (MULTI-YEAR)

Brief Description of Project Activity:

This is an on-going housing improvement activity that provides deferred payment loans to low and moderate income homeowners, as well as owner occupied duplexes and renter occupied units, who are unable to cover the cost of needed repairs. Activities may include interior and exterior repairs, health and safety improvements, handicap modifications, etc., to owner-occupied homes, as well as homes acquired through this program for the purpose of neighborhood stabilization, removal of blight, or part of a neighborhood initiatives plan. This program benefits both the property owners, by improving their living environment, as well as benefiting the neighborhood by eliminating blighting conditions. The program also expands the City's affordable housing stock for LMI households, both owner occupied and rental units, as well as stabilize and improve older and LMI neighborhoods. Funds will also be used to acquire homes in need of repair, make needed repairs and sell the homes to qualified homebuyers.

This project also utilizes program income from repaid loans. A Tier 2 Environmental Review will be completed for each individual rehabilitation project and be kept on file with the Department of Community Development.

Brief Description of the Project Site and Immediate Area:

The program places emphasis on rehabilitation of homes in low and moderate income census tracts and block groups (see maps on following pages), neighborhoods with approved plans, and is available city-wide to low and moderate income households based on HUD income limits.

RENTAL REHABILITATION PROGRAM (MULTI-YEAR)

Brief Description of Project Activity:

This is an on-going program activity that provides deferred payment loans to eligible landlords or developers in the rehabilitation of affordable rental units. Funds will be used to rehab and expand the City's affordable rental housing stock for LMI rental households. Offset eligible costs associated with creation of new affordable rental units for LMI households or rehabilitation of existing LMI rental units.

This activity may also utilize program income from repaid housing improvement loans. A Tier 2 Environmental Review will be completed for each project approved and be kept on file with the Department of Community Development.

Brief Description of the Project Site and Immediate Area:

The program places emphasis on rehabilitation projects in the Central City Area, in neighborhood associations, in redevelopment areas, or properties designated slum and blight.

Guam - Piti and Tanguisson power stations are designated nonattainment for the SO₂ (1971) NAAQS

Piti and Cabras power stations are designated nonattainment for the SO₂ (2010) NAAQS

* The National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS) are health standards for Carbon Monoxide, Lead (1978 and 2008), Nitrogen Dioxide, 8-hour Ozone (2008), Particulate Matter (PM-10 and PM-2.5 (1997, 2006 and 2012), and Sulfur Dioxide.(1971 and 2010)

 Included in the counts are counties designated for NAAQS and revised NAAQS pollutants. Revoked 1-hour (1979) and 8-hour Ozone (1997) are excluded. Partial counties, those with part of the county designated nonattainment and part attainment, are shown as full counties on the map.

Wisconsin Endangered and Threatened Species Laws & List

PUBL-ER-001 2004

REV June 2015

Definitions

Wisconsin Endangered Species: Any species whose continued existence as a viable component of this state's wild animals or wild plants is determined by the Department to be in jeopardy on the basis of scientific evidence.

Wisconsin Threatened Species: Any species which appears likely, within the foreseeable future, on the basis of scientific evidence to become endangered.

State Laws

Endangered and Threatened Species Laws (State Statute 29.604 & Administrative Rule NR27)

Animals - It is illegal to take, transport, possess, process or sell any wild animal that is included on the Wisconsin Endangered and Threatened Species List without a valid permit.

Plants - No one may process or sell any wild plant that is a listed species without a valid permit. On public lands or lands you do not own, lease, or have the permission of the landowner, you may not cut, root up, sever, injure, destroy, remove, transport or carry away a listed plant without a permit. There is an exemption on public lands for forestry, agriculture and utility activity.

Permits - No one is exempt from these laws, but an Endangered or Threatened Species "Scientific" Permit or an Incidental Take Permit can allow you to conduct certain activities under specified conditions. The Department of Natural Resources may issue these permits, under specified terms and conditions to take, transport, possess, or export listed endangered or threatened species. Permit information and applications are available from the Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation (address below).

Violations

Endangered and Threatened Animals: If the state law is violated unintentionally, the violator is subject to a fine of no less than $500 and no more than $2,000 and the court shall revoke all hunting privileges for one year. If the law is violated intentionally a person may be fined no less than $2,000 and no more than $5,000 or may be imprisoned for 9 months, or both. The court shall revoke all hunting privileges for three years. Violations of Federal Laws will result in additional penalties.

Endangered and Threatened Plants: If the state law is violated unintentionally, the person is subject to a fine of $1,000 or less. If the law is violated intentionally, the person is subject to a fine of $1,000 or less and/or 9 months imprisonment.

Report violations of wildlife laws to the toll-free Wisconsin Emergency Hotline: (1-800-847-9367).

A Reminder

The Department of Natural Resources reminds you that the Endangered and Threatened Species list is only a first step toward identifying a problem that exists. It doesn't tell what the problem is or what to do about it. Moreover, it does not guarantee survival of the plants and animals listed. The real work follows listing. The Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation formulates management plans to aid the recovery of listed species. DNR resource managers put the plans to work in the field, while conservation wardens enforce laws protecting endangered resources.

A Request

The Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation welcomes observations of endangered and threatened plants and animals. We are also interested in observations of species of special concern (species about which some problem of abundance or distribution is suspected but not yet proven). If you would like to obtain reporting forms for submitting observations and/or a list of special concern species, please contact us at the address or phone number in the box at right.

My WATERS Mapper

MyWATERS Mapper dynamically displays snapshots of EPA Office of Water program data. This version of MyWATERS Mapper depicts the status of NPDES permits for each State; summary information from the Clean Watershed Needs Survey; and water quality assessments. Future versions will include other Office of Water Program Snapshots. MyWATERS Mapper also contains water-related geographic themes such as the National Hydrography Dataset, and other water-related map layers. MyWATERS Mapper enables you to create customized maps at national and local scales.

Counties Designated "Nonattainment"

for Clean Air Act's National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS) *

Guam - Piti and Tanguisson power stations are designated nonattainment for the SO₂ (1971) NAAQS
 Piti and Cabras power stations are designated nonattainment for the SO₂ (2010) NAAQS

* The National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS) are health standards for Carbon Monoxide, Lead (1978 and 2008), Nitrogen Dioxide, 8-hour Ozone (2008), Particulate Matter (PM-10 and PM-2.5 (1997, 2006 and 2012), and Sulfur Dioxide.(1971 and 2010)

 Included in the counts are counties designated for NAAQS and revised NAAQS pollutants. Revoked 1-hour (1979) and 8-hour Ozone (1997) are excluded. Partial counties, those with part of the county designated nonattainment and part attainment, are shown as full counties on the map.

Wisconsin Endangered and Threatened Species Laws & List

PUBL-ER-001 2004
REV June 2015

Definitions

Wisconsin Endangered Species: Any species whose continued existence as a viable component of this state's wild animals or wild plants is determined by the Department to be in jeopardy on the basis of scientific evidence.

Wisconsin Threatened Species: Any species which appears likely, within the foreseeable future, on the basis of scientific evidence to become endangered.

State Laws

Endangered and Threatened Species Laws (State Statute 29.604 & Administrative Rule NR27)

Animals - It is illegal to take, transport, possess, process or sell any wild animal that is included on the Wisconsin Endangered and Threatened Species List without a valid permit.

Plants - No one may process or sell any wild plant that is a listed species without a valid permit. On public lands or lands you do not own, lease, or have the permission of the landowner, you may not cut, root up, sever, injure, destroy, remove, transport or carry away a listed plant without a permit. There is an exemption on public lands for forestry, agriculture and utility activity.

Permits - No one is exempt from these laws, but an Endangered or Threatened Species "Scientific" Permit or an Incidental Take Permit can allow you to conduct certain activities under specified conditions. The Department of Natural Resources may issue these permits, under specified terms and conditions to take, transport, possess, or export listed endangered or threatened species. Permit information and applications are available from the Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation (address below).

Violations

Endangered and Threatened Animals: If the state law is violated unintentionally, the violator is subject to a fine of no less than $500 and no more than $2,000 and the court shall revoke all hunting privileges for one year. If the law is violated intentionally a person may be fined no less than $2,000 and no more than $5,000 or may be imprisoned for 9 months, or both. The court shall revoke all hunting privileges for three years. Violations of Federal Laws will result in additional penalties.

Endangered and Threatened Plants: If the state law is violated unintentionally, the person is subject to a fine of $1,000 or less. If the law is violated intentionally, the person is subject to a fine of $1,000 or less and/or 9 months imprisonment.

Report violations of wildlife laws to the toll-free Wisconsin Emergency Hotline: (1-800-847-9367).

A Reminder

The Department of Natural Resources reminds you that the Endangered and Threatened Species list is only a first step toward identifying a problem that exists. It doesn't tell what the problem is or what to do about it. Moreover, it does not guarantee survival of the plants and animals listed. The real work follows listing. The Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation formulates management plans to aid the recovery of listed species. DNR resource managers put the plans to work in the field, while conservation wardens enforce laws protecting endangered resources.

A Request

The Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation welcomes observations of endangered and threatened plants and animals. We are also interested in observations of species of special concern (species about which some problem of abundance or distribution is suspected but not yet proven). If you would like to obtain reporting forms for submitting observations and/or a list of special concern species, please contact us at the address or phone number in the box at right.

CODE VIOLATION PROGRAM (MULTI-YEAR)

Brief Description of Project Activity:

This is an on-going housing improvement activity that provides deferred payment loans to eligible low and moderate income homeowners, who are unable to cover the cost of needed exterior maintenance repairs. Property owners eligible under this program must have received an exterior maintenance code violation notice from the City. These improvements will stabilize and visually improve the LMI owner's property, the neighborhood and the community as a whole. Activities may include exterior painting or siding, window repairs/replacement, health and safety improvements such as electrical service replacement, doors, foundation repairs,

This project may also utilize program income from repaid housing improvement loans. A Tier 2 Environmental Review will be completed for each individual rehabilitation project and be kept on file with the Department of Community Development.

Brief Description of the Project Site and Immediate Area:

The program places emphasis on rehabilitation of homes in low and moderate income census tracts and block groups (see maps on following pages), approved neighborhood associations, and is available city-wide to low and moderate income households based on HUD income limits.

Guam - Piti and Tanguisson power stations are designated nonattainment for the SO₂ (1971) NAAQS
 Piti and Cabras power stations are designated nonattainment for the SO₂ (2010) NAAQS

* The National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS) are health standards for Carbon Monoxide, Lead (1978 and 2008), Nitrogen Dioxide, 8-hour Ozone (2008), Particulate Matter (PM-10 and PM-2.5 (1997, 2006 and 2012), and Sulfur Dioxide.(1971 and 2010)

 Included in the counts are counties designated for NAAQS and revised NAAQS pollutants. Revoked 1-hour (1979) and 8-hour Ozone (1997) are excluded. Partial counties, those with part of the county designated nonattainment and part attainment, are shown as full counties on the map.

Wisconsin Endangered and Threatened Species Laws & List

PUBL-ER-001 2004
REV June 2015

Definitions

Wisconsin Endangered Species: Any species whose continued existence as a viable component of this state's wild animals or wild plants is determined by the Department to be in jeopardy on the basis of scientific evidence.

Wisconsin Threatened Species: Any species which appears likely, within the foreseeable future, on the basis of scientific evidence to become endangered.

State Laws

Endangered and Threatened Species Laws (State Statute 29.604 & Administrative Rule NR27)

Animals - It is illegal to take, transport, possess, process or sell any wild animal that is included on the Wisconsin Endangered and Threatened Species List without a valid permit.

Plants - No one may process or sell any wild plant that is a listed species without a valid permit. On public lands or lands you do not own, lease, or have the permission of the landowner, you may not cut, root up, sever, injure, destroy, remove, transport or carry away a listed plant without a permit. There is an exemption on public lands for forestry, agriculture and utility activity.

Permits - No one is exempt from these laws, but an Endangered or Threatened Species "Scientific" Permit or an Incidental Take Permit can allow you to conduct certain activities under specified conditions. The Department of Natural Resources may issue these permits, under specified terms and conditions to take, transport, possess, or export listed endangered or threatened species. Permit information and applications are available from the Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation (address below).

Violations

Endangered and Threatened Animals: If the state law is violated unintentionally, the violator is subject to a fine of no less than $500 and no more than $2,000 and the court shall revoke all hunting privileges for one year. If the law is violated intentionally a person may be fined no less than $2,000 and no more than $5,000 or may be imprisoned for 9 months, or both. The court shall revoke all hunting privileges for three years. Violations of Federal Laws will result in additional penalties.

Endangered and Threatened Plants: If the state law is violated unintentionally, the person is subject to a fine of $1,000 or less. If the law is violated intentionally, the person is subject to a fine of $1,000 or less and/or 9 months imprisonment.

Report violations of wildlife laws to the toll-free Wisconsin Emergency Hotline: (1-800-847-9367).

A Reminder

The Department of Natural Resources reminds you that the Endangered and Threatened Species list is only a first step toward identifying a problem that exists. It doesn't tell what the problem is or what to do about it. Moreover, it does not guarantee survival of the plants and animals listed. The real work follows listing. The Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation formulates management plans to aid the recovery of listed species. DNR resource managers put the plans to work in the field, while conservation wardens enforce laws protecting endangered resources.

A Request

The Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation welcomes observations of endangered and threatened plants and animals. We are also interested in observations of species of special concern (species about which some problem of abundance or distribution is suspected but not yet proven). If you would like to obtain reporting forms for submitting observations and/or a list of special concern species, please contact us at the address or phone number in the box at right.

MyWATERS Mapper

MyWATERS Mapper dynamically displays snapshots of EPA Office of Water program data. This version of MyWATERS Mapper depicts the status of NPDES permits for each State; summary information from the Clean Watershed Needs Survey; and water quality assessments. Future versions will include other Office of Water Program Snapshots. MyWATERS Mapper also contains water-related geographic themes such as the National Hydrography Dataset, and water-related map layers. MyWATERS Mapper enables you to create customized maps at national and local scales.

This program may also utilizes program income from repaid loans. A Tier 2 Environmental Review will be completed for each individual homeownership assistance project and be kept on file with the Department of Community Development.

Wisconsin Endangered and Threatened Species Laws & List

PUBL-ER-001 2004
REV June 2015

Definitions

Wisconsin Endangered Species: Any species whose continued existence as a viable component of this state's wild animals or wild plants is determined by the Department to be in jeopardy on the basis of scientific evidence.

Wisconsin Threatened Species: Any species which appears likely, within the foreseeable future, on the basis of scientific evidence to become endangered.

State Laws

Endangered and Threatened Species Laws (State Statute 29.604 & Administrative Rule NR27)

Animals - It is illegal to take, transport, possess, process or sell any wild animal that is included on the Wisconsin Endangered and Threatened Species List without a valid permit.

Plants - No one may process or sell any wild plant that is a listed species without a valid permit. On public lands or lands you do not own, lease, or have the permission of the landowner, you may not cut, root up, sever, injure, destroy, remove, transport or carry away a listed plant without a permit. There is an exemption on public lands for forestry, agriculture and utility activity.

Permits - No one is exempt from these laws, but an Endangered or Threatened Species "Scientific" Permit or an Incidental Take Permit can allow you to conduct certain activities under specified conditions. The Department of Natural Resources may issue these permits, under specified terms and conditions to take, transport, possess, or export listed endangered or threatened species. Permit information and applications are available from the Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation (address below).

Violations

Endangered and Threatened Animals: If the state law is violated unintentionally, the violator is subject to a fine of no less than $500 and no more than $2,000 and the court shall revoke all hunting privileges for one year. If the law is violated intentionally a person may be fined no less than $2,000 and no more than $5,000 or may be imprisoned for 9 months, or both. The court shall revoke all hunting privileges for three years. Violations of Federal Laws will result in additional penalties.

Endangered and Threatened Plants: If the state law is violated unintentionally, the person is subject to a fine of $1,000 or less. If the law is violated intentionally, the person is subject to a fine of $1,000 or less and/or 9 months imprisonment.

Report violations of wildlife laws to the toll-free Wisconsin Emergency Hotline: (1-800-847-9367).

A Reminder

The Department of Natural Resources reminds you that the Endangered and Threatened Species list is only a first step toward identifying a problem that exists. It doesn't tell what the problem is or what to do about it. Moreover, it does not guarantee survival of the plants and animals listed. The real work follows listing. The Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation formulates management plans to aid the recovery of listed species. DNR resource managers put the plans to work in the field, while conservation wardens enforce laws protecting endangered resources.

A Request

The Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation welcomes observations of endangered and threatened plants and animals. We are also interested in observations of species of special concern (species about which some problem of abundance or distribution is suspected but not yet proven). If you would like to obtain reporting forms for submitting observations and/or a list of special concern species, please contact us at the address or phone number in the box at right.

Wisconsin Endangered and Threatened Species Laws & List

PUBL-ER-001 2004
REV June 2015

Definitions

Wisconsin Endangered Species: Any species whose continued existence as a viable component of this state's wild animals or wild plants is determined by the Department to be in jeopardy on the basis of scientific evidence.

Wisconsin Threatened Species: Any species which appears likely, within the foreseeable future, on the basis of scientific evidence to become endangered.

State Laws

Endangered and Threatened Species Laws (State Statute 29.604 & Administrative Rule NR27)
Animals - It is illegal to take, transport, possess, process or sell any wild animal that is included on the Wisconsin Endangered and Threatened Species List without a valid permit.

Plants - No one may process or sell any wild plant that is a listed species without a valid permit. On public lands or lands you do not own, lease, or have the permission of the landowner, you may not cut, root up, sever, injure, destroy, remove, transport or carry away a listed plant without a permit. There is an exemption on the public lands for forestry, agriculture and utility activity.

Permits - No one is exempt from these laws, but an Endangered or Threatened Species "Scientific" Permit or an Incidental Take Permit can allow you to conduct certain activities under specified conditions. The Department of Natural Resources may issue these permits, under specified terms and conditions to take, transport, possess, or export listed endangered or threatened species. Permit information and applications are available from the Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation (address below).

Violations

Endangered and Threatened Animals: If the state law is violated unintentionally, the violator is subject to a fine of no less than $500 and no more than $2,000 and the court shall revoke all hunting privileges for one year. If the law is violated intentionally a person may be fined no less than $2,000 and no more than $5,000 or may be imprisoned for 9 months, or both. The court shall revoke all hunting privileges for three years. Violations of Federal Laws will result in additional penalties.

Endangered and Threatened Plants: If the state law is violated unintentionally, the person is subject to a fine of $1,000 or less. If the law is violated intentionally, the person is subject to a fine of $1,000 or less and/or 9 months imprisonment.

Report violations of wildlife laws to the toll-free Wisconsin Emergency Hotline: (1-800-847-9367).

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources provides equal opportunity in its employment, programs, services, and functions under an Affirmative Action Plan. If you have any questions, please write to Equal Opportunity Office, Department of Interior, Washington D.C. 20240.

This publication is available in alternative format (large print, Braille, audio tape, etc.) upon request. Please call (608)-267-2108 for more information.

A Reminder

The Department of Natural Resources reminds you that the Endangered and Threatened Species list is only a first step toward identifying a problem that exists. It doesn't tell what the problem is or what to do about it. Moreover, it does not guarantee survival of the plants and animals listed. The real work follows listing. The Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation formulates management plans to aid the recovery of listed species. DNR resource managers put the plans to work in the field, while conservation wardens enforce laws protecting endangered resources.

A Request

The Bureau of Natural Heritage Conservation welcomes observations of endangered and threatened plants and animals. We are also interested in observations of species of special concern (species about which some problem of abundance or distribution is suspected but not yet proven). If you would like to obtain reporting forms for submitting observations and/or a list of special concern species, please contact us at the address or phone number in the box at right.
