Oshkosh City Manager Mark Rohloff announces retirement
His 41-year distinguished career concludes on January 3, 2025

OSHKOSH, Wis., July 30, 2024 – After 41 years of service to local government, Oshkosh City Manager Mark Rohloff has announced his retirement effective January 3, 2025. The City Manager acts as the chief executive and administrative officer for the city of Oshkosh.

“Serving as City Manager of Oshkosh for the last 16 years has been the honor of my career,” said Rohloff. “I am grateful for the support of Council, the dedication of an outstanding city staff, and the welcoming spirit of the Oshkosh community. This wonderful combination of support has enabled us to create an ambitious strategic plan and realize many worthwhile achievements for Oshkosh. We have a lot to be proud of.”

Mayor Matt Mugerauer noted, “Today’s announcement of City Manager Mark Rohloff’s retirement marks the end of an era for the city of Oshkosh. After 16 years of exceptional service, I want to congratulate him on his distinguished career and thank him for his dedication to our city. Under his leadership, we have seen remarkable growth and development, with numerous projects that have greatly improved the quality of life for our residents. Mark has been a guiding force in our community, always working tirelessly to ensure that our city runs smoothly and efficiently. He has led with integrity, vision, and a steadfast commitment to public service, fostering a culture of excellence within our city government. On behalf of the entire city, I extend our deepest gratitude to Mark for his unwavering dedication and contributions. Oshkosh is without a doubt a better place because of his leadership, and he will be greatly missed.”

Rohloff feels he will be leaving his position with a sense of optimism for Oshkosh, saying, “I see a bright future for Oshkosh, and I thank Council for allowing me the opportunity to have played a small part in shaping a successful path forward.” The Oshkosh Common Council will be working with city of Oshkosh Human Resources division to begin the process of recruiting Oshkosh’s next City Manager.
